A Word from St. Benedict’s Rule

PREPARING FOR ETERNITY

Brothers, now that we have asked the Lord who will dwell in his tent, we have heard the instruction for dwelling in it, but only if we fulfill the obligations of those who live there. We must, then, prepare our hearts and bodies for the battle of holy obedience to his instructions. What is not possible to us by nature, let us ask the Lord to supply by the help of his grace. If we wish to reach eternal life, even as we avoid the torments of hell, then—while there is still time, while we are in this body and have time to accomplish all these things by the light of life—we must run and do now what will profit us forever.

Reflection by Saint Augustine

FROM A DISCOURSE ON THE PSALMS

Our thoughts in this present life should turn on the praise of God, because it is in praising God that we shall rejoice forever in the life to come; and no one can be ready for the next life unless he trains himself for it now. So we praise God during our earthly life, and at the same time we make our petitions to him. Our praise is expressed with joy, our petitions with yearning. We have been promised something we do not yet possess, and because the promise was made by one who keeps his word, we trust him and are glad; but insofar as possession is delayed, we can only long and year for it. It is good for us to persevere in longing until we receive what was promised, and yearning is over; then praise alone will remain .... We are praising God now, assembled as we are here in church; but when we go our various ways again, it seems as if we cease to praise God. But provided we do not cease to live a good life, we shall always be praising God. You cease to praise God only when you swerve from justice and form what is pleasing to God. If you never turn aside from the good life, your tongue may be silent but your actions will cry aloud, and God will perceive your intentions; for as our ears hear each other's voices, so do God's ears hear our thoughts.

Hospitality: A Reflection by Jim O’Hanlon, Oblate

“LIVING AS A FOLLOWER OF JESUS”—AN EXCERPT

Chapter 53, “On the Reception of Guests,” provides part of the answer as to how to live in harmony with 1 John 2:6. “All guests who present themselves are to be welcomed as Christ, for he himself will say: I was a stranger and you welcomed me.” Hospitality honors the sacred worth of every human being. As we welcome others, we respect them as children of God. That every life is holy must be fundamental to how we live. The implications of the expression of hospitality in our daily lives are significant. Practicing hospitality has special meaning for relations with those who are different from us in any way, by race, religion, gender, place of origin, or age. The passage in the Rule says, “all guests,” not just those with whom we are comfortable. It certainly indicates that the frequent negative rhetoric we hear today about immigrants and those who are different from us is out of line with these teachings. Hospitality is for all.

NEW BOOK FOR 2017–2018 CHAPTER GATHERINGS
For the next two years, the Chapters will be studying from the book Sacred Rhythms: The Monastic Way Every Day by Br. Francis de Sales Wagner, OSB. It can be purchased on Amazon, which provides the following description:

The Christian life is meant to be one of unity. It is about making the whole of life holy. The path of eternal life is an integrated journey we must make each day by embracing rhythmic lives of prayer, work, faithfulness and conversion. These rhythms, through the grace of God, give our lives strength and sacred purpose, most often through the very ordinary.

This ideal found concrete expression early in the history of Christianity through the lives of monks and nuns living according to the ancient Rule of St. Benedict. While not everyone is called to be a monk or a nun, all Christians are called to faithfully live the Gospel, and the Rule of St. Benedict offers a time-honored way for anyone to do just that.

NEW CELL GROUP BOOK

For the next several years, the cell groups will be studying from the book New Seeds of Contemplation by Thomas Merton. This is one of Thomas Merton’s most widely read and best-loved books. Christians and non-Christians alike have joined in praising it as a notable successor in the meditative tradition of St. John of the Cross, The Cloud of Unknowing, and the medieval mystics, while others have compared Merton’s reflections with those of Thoreau. This book seeks to awaken the dormant inner depths of the spirit so long neglected by Western humanity and to nurture a deeply contemplative and mystical dimension in our lives.

WORLD OBLATE CONGRESS

The Fourth International Congress of Benedictine Oblates will meet in Rome in November 2017. We are pleased to announce that one of our oblates, Jim Rea, will be attending! The last time we had representatives from the Nebraska Oblates was in 2005, when Carol Olson and Marti Fritzen attended the first World Oblate Congress. Carol and Marti found the experience deeply meaningful, and shared their insights with the Chapters’ members. Jim will be representing all of us at this important meeting. If you would like to help defray the cost (around $2000) he would be most grateful for any assistance. Please send your donations to the chapter:

Here is a reflection by Carol Olson on her experience at the 2005 World Oblate Congress:

My perspective on being a Benedictine Obelate completely changed and was expanded after attending the Congress. Meeting other Oblates from the USA and from around the world, participating in the Liturgy of the Hours several times per day, and listening to presentations on a particular theme broadened my view and helped me to see the value in community, both large and small. Listening to Oblates as they discussed the issues that were important to them and maintaining the connection to their monastery assisted me in understanding what we can do in Nebraska to stay connected to Sacred Heart in South Dakota. It was immensely valuable to make connections with other Oblates, and I still keep in touch with several from that initial meeting twelve years ago.

FAREWELL

Dear Friends,

In mid-June, Anne and I will move from Nebraska to Massachusetts to live near to our daughter and her family—especially our two grandchildren. This move brings so many changes to our lives. I will miss the companionship and camaraderie we have shared as oblates over the last nine years. Thanks to everyone for helping me to grow in my understanding of the Benedictine oblate life.

My cell phone number remains the same: 402.450.2072. My new e-mail address is dfrye@widesky.biz. By the end of July, my new home address will be 46 Dover Circle, Franklin, MA 02038-1548.

Again, thanks for your fellowship.
God’s blessings,

David Frye
